Amounts for Spouse or Common-Law Partner and Dependants

Schedule 5

Protected B when completed

Complete this schedule to claim an amount on line 30300, 30400, 30425 or 30450 of your return.

For information about the Canada caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age, see line 30500 on page 6 of this schedule.

For specific eligibility requirements for each amount, see the charts on pages 2 to 6.

For more information about the Canada caregiver credit, go to canada.ca/caregiver-credit or see Income Tax Folio S1-F4-C2, Basic Personal and Dependant Tax Credits.

Attach a copy of this schedule to your paper return.

Eligibility for the Canada caregiver amount

You may be able to claim the Canada caregiver amount if, at any time in the year, one or more of the following individuals was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity:

- your spouse or common-law partner
- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) child or grandchild
- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) parent, grandparent, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, niece, or nephew (if they resided in Canada at any time in the year)

For a person to be dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity, the dependency must be solely due to that infirmity. The degree of the infirmity requires the person to be dependent on you for a considerable period of time. A temporary illness or injury is not considered to be an infirmity for the purpose of the Canada caregiver amount.

Person with a mental or physical infirmity	Amount you may be able to claim
Spouse or common-law partner	both of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30300 • up to $8,601 on line 30425
Eligible dependant 18 years of age or older (must meet conditions for amount for an eligible dependant at line 30400) (see note)	both of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 • up to $8,601 on line 30425
Eligible dependant under 18 years of age at the end of the year (must meet conditions for amount for an eligible dependant at line 30400) (see note)	one of the following amounts: • $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 • $2,687 on line 30500
Each of your or your spouse's or common-law partner's children under 18 years of age at the end of the year (see note)	$2,687 on line 30500
Each dependant 18 years of age or older (cannot be someone you claimed on line 30300 or line 30400)	up to $8,601 on line 30450

Note: You cannot claim an amount on lines 30400, 30450 and 30500 for your child if you were the only parent required to make support payments for that child to your current or former spouse or common-law partner. This rule applies only if one of the following conditions applied to you:

- You lived separate and apart from your current or former spouse or common-law partner throughout 2025 because of a breakdown of your relationship
- You were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship and you are claiming a deduction on line 22000 of your return for support amounts that you paid to your current or former spouse or common-law partner

For more information, see lines 30400, 30450, and 30500 of this schedule.

Supporting documents

The Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) may ask for a signed statement from a medical practitioner showing when the infirmity began and what its duration is expected to be. However, a signed statement from a medical practitioner is not required if the CRA already has an approved Form T2201, Disability Tax Credit Certificate, for a specified period.

For children under 18 years of age, the statement should also show that the child is dependent on others for significantly more assistance in attending to personal needs and care than other children of the same age. Due to the mental or physical infirmity, the dependence on others is expected to last for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration. For more information and examples, see Income Tax Folio S1-F4-C2, Basic Personal and Dependant Tax Credits.

Line 30300 - Spouse or common-law partner amount

Claim this amount if, at any time in the year, you supported your spouse or common-law partner and their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount that it would be if they filed a return) was less than your basic personal amount (plus $2,687 if your spouse or common-law partner was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity).

If you had to make support payments to your current or former spouse or common-law partner and you were separated for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship, you can claim whichever amount is better for you:

- the amount on line 22000 of your return for deductible support payments made in the year to your current or former spouse or common-law partner
- the amount on line 30300 of your return for your spouse or common-law partner

If you reconciled with your spouse or common-law partner and were living together on December 31, 2025, you can claim an amount on line 30300 of your return and any allowable amounts on line 32600 of your return.

Only one spouse or common-law partner can claim the amount on line 30300 for each other for the same year.

Did your marital status change to a status other than married or living common-law in 2025? If yes, check this box and enter the date of the change.	55220	Month	Day
Basic personal amount from line 30000 of your return		16,129 00		1

Line 1 plus line 2		=		3
Your spouse's or common-law partner's net income from line 23600 of their return (1)		-		4

(1) If your spouse or common-law partner is temporarily outside Canada but still considered a resident of Canada for tax purposes, enter their net world income.

If you were living with your spouse or common-law partner on December 31, 2025, use their net income for the whole year even if you separated for part of the year (then you got back together and started living together again in 2025), got married in 2025, or became a common-law partner or started to live with your common-law partner again in 2025.

If you separated in 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship and were not back together on December 31, 2025, reduce your claim by the amount of your spouse's or common-law partner's net income before the separation.

If your spouse or common-law partner is a non-resident, enter their net world income in Canadian dollars. The CRA may ask you to provide supporting documents later.

Line 30400 - Amount for an eligible dependant

Claim this amount if, at any time in the year, you supported an eligible dependant and their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount that it would be if they filed a return) was less than your basic personal amount (plus $2,687 if the eligible dependant was dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity).

If you did not claim an amount on line 30300 of your return, you may be able to claim the amount for one eligible dependant if, at any time in the year, you met all the following conditions:

- You did not have a spouse or common-law partner or, if you did, you were not living with them, supporting them, or being supported by them
- You supported the dependant in 2025
- You lived with the dependant (in most cases in Canada) in a home you maintained. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you

In addition, the dependant must also be one of the following persons by blood, marriage, common-law partnership or adoption:

- your parent or grandparent
- your child, grandchild, brother or sister under 18 years of age
- your child, grandchild, brother or sister 18 years of age or older with a mental or physical infirmity

Notes: For the purposes of this amount, the CRA considers your dependant to have lived with you if they usually live with you when they are not in school. Further, your child is not required to live in Canada, but they must still have lived with you. For example, you were a deemed resident living in another country with your child. (For information about deemed residents, go to canada.ca/cra-deemed-residents.)

You cannot claim this amount if any of the following applies:

- The person you want to claim this amount for is your spouse or common-law partner. (You may be able to claim an amount for your spouse or common-law partner on line 30300 of your return.)
- Another person is claiming the spouse or common-law partner amount on line 30300 of their return for this dependant
- Another person in your household is making this claim (Each household is allowed only one claim for this amount, even if there is more than one dependant in the household)
- Another person is claiming the amount on line 30400 of their return for this dependant. If you and another person can both claim this amount for the same dependant (such as in the shared custody of a child) but cannot agree on who will claim the amount, neither of you can make the claim
- You had to pay child support in 2025 for the eligible dependant. You cannot claim an amount on line 30400 for a child you had to make support payments for, except in the following situations:
  - You were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship. In this case, you can choose to claim the amount for an eligible dependant on line 30400 of your return, plus any allowable amounts for that child on line 30425 and line 31800 of your return (where all the eligibility requirements are otherwise met) or the deductible support payments that you made to your spouse or common-law partner on line 22000 of your return.
  - You and another person had to make support payments for the child in 2025. Claim an amount on line 30400 only if you and the other person paying support agree that you will be the one making the claim. For more information, go to canada.ca/taxes-support-payments

Eligible dependant with a mental or physical infirmity

If the eligible dependant is 18 years of age or older and dependent on you because of a mental or physical infirmity, see line 30425 of this schedule.

If the eligible dependant is under 18 years of age at the end of the year, you may claim one of the following amounts:

- $2,687 on line 30500 of your return for each eligible dependant who is your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) child
- $2,687 in the calculation of line 30400 if the eligible dependant does not meet the definition of child below

A child includes a person who is one of the following:

- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) biological or adopted child
- your child's spouse or common-law partner
- under your custody and control, and wholly dependent on you for support

Note: The eligible dependant must be dependent on others because of the infirmity and will likely continue to be dependent on others for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration. Because of this infirmity, the eligible dependant needs much more help with personal needs and care compared to other persons of the same age.

You cannot split this amount with another person. Once you claim this amount for a dependant 18 years of age or older, no one else can claim this amount or an amount on line 30425 of their return for that dependant.

If you were a single parent on December 31, 2025, and you chose to include all of the universal child care benefit lump-sum payment that you may have received in 2025 on your dependant's return, include this amount in the calculation of the dependant's net income.

If you cannot claim an amount on line 30400 of your return for an eligible dependant 18 years of age or older because you have a spouse or common-law partner, you may still be able to claim the Canada caregiver amount for other infirm dependants age 18 or older on line 30450 of your return.

- They were a resident of Canada at any time in the year. You cannot claim this amount for a person who was only visiting you
- Their net income from line 23600 of their return (or the amount it would be if they filed a return) was less than $28,798

You cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of your return for dependants who do not have a mental or physical infirmity, including a parent or grandparent.

A parent includes someone you were completely dependent upon and who had custody and control of you when you were under 19 years of age.

A child includes a person who is under your custody and control and is wholly dependent on you for support, even if they are older than you.

If you or another person is claiming an amount on line 30300 or on line 30400 of the return for the dependant, you cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of the return for that dependant.

If you had to make support payments for a child, you cannot claim an amount on line 30450 of your return for that child. However, if you were separated from your spouse or common-law partner for only part of 2025 because of a breakdown in your relationship, you may be able to claim an amount for that child on line 30450 of your return if you do not claim any support amounts paid to your spouse or common-law partner on line 22000 of your return. Claim whichever is better for you.

Note If you and another person support the same dependant, you can split the claim for that dependant. However, the total amount of your claim and the other person's claim cannot be more than the maximum amount allowed for that dependant.

Complete the chart below for each dependant who meets the conditions above.

Information about your dependant

First name:	Last name:	Year of birth	Relationship to you

Address:

Base amount		28,798 00	1
Infirm dependant's net income from line 23600 of their return		-	2
Allowable amount for this dependant: Line 1 minus line 2 (if negative, enter "0")	(maximum $8,601)	=	3

Enter on line 30450 of your return the total of allowable amounts claimed for all dependants.

Enter the number of dependants you are claiming this amount for. 51120

Line 30500 - Canada caregiver amount for infirm children under 18 years of age

You can claim $2,687 for each of your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) children who meet all of the following conditions: The child:

- Was under 18 years of age at the end of the year
- had a mental or physical infirmity and will likely continue to be dependent on others for a long and continuous period of indefinite duration
- needs much more help with personal needs and care compared to other children of the same age

Note: You can claim the full amount in the year of the child's birth, death, or adoption.

If the child does not live with both parents throughout the year, only the parent (or the parent's spouse or common-law partner) who claims an amount on line 30400 for that child can make the claim on line 30500. You may still be able to claim an amount on line 30500 for your child if you (or your spouse or common-law partner) could not claim the amount on line 30400 for any of the following reasons:

- You claimed an amount on line 30300 for your spouse or common-law partner
- You claimed an amount on line 30400 for another dependant
- Another person in your household claimed an amount on line 30400 for another dependant
- The child's income is too high

You (or your spouse or common-law partner) can claim this amount for all eligible children separately, but the amount can only be claimed once for each child.

If you have shared custody of the child throughout the year, the parent who claims the amount for an eligible dependant (line 30400) for that child can make the claim on line 30500. If you have shared custody of the child throughout the year, but cannot agree who will claim the amount, neither of you can make this claim.

If you and another person had to make support payments for the child in the year, you can claim this amount only if both of you agree that you will be making the claim.

If you were the only person who had to make support payments for the child for 2025, you may not be eligible to claim this amount for that child.

For more information about support payments, go to canada.ca/taxes-support-payments.

For the purposes of this amount, a child includes a person who is one of the following:

- your (or your spouse's or common-law partner's) biological or adopted child
- your child's spouse or common-law partner
- under your custody and control, and wholly dependent on you for support

Enter the number of children you are claiming this amount for on line 30499 of your return and enter the result of the calculation on line 30500.

Note: To transfer all or part of this amount to your spouse or common-law partner, or to claim all or part of their amount, complete schedule 2.

Provincial or Territorial Foreign Tax Credit

Use this form to calculate the foreign non-business income tax credit for 2025 that you can deduct from the income tax payable to the province or territory you resided in at the end of the tax year.

This form does not apply to residents of Quebec.

If you must pay minimum tax and you were a resident of Manitoba, you cannot claim a provincial foreign tax credit.

Before you complete this form, calculate your federal foreign tax credit by using Form T2209, Federal Foreign Tax Credits. If the amount of the federal foreign non-business income tax credit you are entitled to deduct is equal to the foreign non-business tax you paid, your provincial or territorial foreign tax credit would be zero. As a result, you do not have to complete this form

If you paid tax to more than one foreign country, and the total of the non-business income taxes that you paid to all foreign countries was more than $200, do the calculation on a separate form for each country in Canadian dollars.

Designation of a Property as a Principal Residence by an Individual (Other than a Personal Trust)

Tax year
2025

Use this form to designate a property as a principal residence. You must also complete the "Principal residence designation" section of Schedule 3, Capital Gains or Losses, for the year you are in one of the following situations:

- You disposed of, or were considered to have disposed of, your principal residence, or any part of it
- You granted someone an option to buy your principal residence, or any part of it

Note

If you were not a resident of Canada for the entire time you owned the designated property, call 1-800-959-8281.

The period of non-residence may reduce or eliminate the availability of the principal residence exemption.

For more information about designating a principal residence and what qualifies as a principal residence, see Income Tax Folio S1-F3-C2, Principal Residence, or the "Principal residence" chapter in Guide T4037, Capital Gains.

You can only designate one property as your principal residence for any specific year. However, where you sell a principal residence and buy another (or move to another property that you own) in the same year, the 'plus one' rule in calculating the principal residence exemption amount will allow you to claim the principal residence exemption for both properties for that year even though you can only designate one property as your principal residence.

For dispositions that occurred after October 2, 2016, if you were a non-resident throughout the taxation year in which the property was purchased or acquired, the “plus 1” rule doesnot apply.

For dispositions after 2022, if you owned a housing unit (including a rental property) or held a right to acquire a housing unit located in Canada for less than 365 consecutive days before the disposition, the property is generally considered to be a flipped property, unless it was already considered to be inventory of the taxpayer. The resulting gain on the disposition of a flipped property is taxable as business income and not as a capital gain. Therefore, you cannot use the principal residence exemption. There are exceptions to this rule when the disposition occurs due to, or in anticipation of, certain life events. For more information on these rules and relevant life event exceptions, see Guide T4037.

If you are filing electronically, keep this form in case the Canada Revenue Agency asks to see it later. If you are filing a paper return, you must complete, sign, and attach this form to your return.

Definitions

For the purpose of this form, the acquisition dateis the later of the following: December 31, 1971, or the date on which you acquired or last reacquired the property. However, if you or your spouse or common-law partner filed Form T664 or T664(Seniors), you or your spouse or common-law partner are not considered to have disposed of and immediately reacquired the property as a result of that election.

The term spouse used throughout this form applies to a person to whom you are legally married. For 1993 to 2000, a spouse included a common-law spouse. For 2001 and later years, the reference to spouse is replaced with spouse or common-law partner as defined in the "Definitions" section in Guide T4037, Capital Gains.

Note

If you made an election to have your same-sex partner considered your common-law partner for 1998, 1999, or 2000, then for those years, your common-law partner also can not designate a different housing unit as their principal residence.

How to complete this form

If you checked box 1 at line 17900 of Schedule 3, you only need to complete "Section 1 - Description of property" below. You do not need to report any gain amount on Schedule 3 for this property.
If you checked either box 2 or 3 at line 17900 of Schedule 3, you must also complete "Section 2 - Calculation of capital gain."
This section starts on the next page and should be completed according to what is applicable to your situation.
If you disposed of, or were considered to have disposed of, a property for which you or your spouse or common-law partner filed Form T664 or T664(Seniors), Election to Report a Capital Gain on Property Owned at the End of February 22, 1994, use this form to calculate the capital gain for the year if one of the following applies:

- The property was your principal residence in 1994
- You are designating the property in this form as your principal residence for any tax year

You may be entitled to a reduction as a result of the capital gains election. To calculate this reduction, use Form T2091(IND)-WS, Principal Residence Worksheet. To get this form, go to canada.ca/cra-forms-publications or call 1-800-959-8281.
